Lethbridge Librarian Speaks to U.F.W.A.

"Among all the satisfactions that life may bring to us, there is none more important than the satisfaction of the mind, and in the satisfaction of the mind there is no substitute for good books," said Miss Hazel Bletcher, of the Lethbridge Library Staff in an address to the U.F.W.A. of Raymond at the meeting held June 4th. Miss Bletcher continued, "People may allow the reading of good books to lapse into a place of lesser importance for a short time, but it will always come back to its own place again and will never be seriously threatened by any of the things that sometimes look like being substitutes; such as radio, theatre and so on."

The speaker paid tribute to Andrew Carnegie for his grants to libraries and library work, whereby thousands of libraries have been placed throughout Great Britain and the United States. The library system of cooperation between towns, countries and the capital making it possible for any person to obtain any book in which he might be of need.

A report of the library conference held in Edmonton in December was given, also an explanation of the Provincial Library Association. The changes recently made in the library act were commented on and shown to be helpful, especially to small libraries. The town of Raymond was complimented on the splendid start made for a public library and Miss Bletcher closed by saying, "The library system in the old country sounds like a glorious dream realized. Alberta of course, can hope for no such Utopia for some time to come but we have a pretty clear field on which to build with old ruins to first tear down. The formation of the provincial library association and the resulting changes in the library legislation which have been made within a few months of the formation, and the fact of having a central committee upon which to call for guidance and in time of difficulty are very important forward steps in our history."

The assigned study for the month, Legislation was ably treated by Mrs. Irene Redd. The following bills were discussed: The ultimate heir act, The mental disease act, Trade school act, The marriage act and the child welfare act. The school act was left for discussion by the convenor of Education. Mrs. Redd stated that the women of Alberta were now on a par with men as far as legislation could make them and should be grateful to the leaders who had granted them so many privileges without having to fight for them. She urged the women to work now for improved social legislation, along lines of health, education and child welfare.

Arrangements were made to have thirty women attend the U.F.W.A. conference at Lethbridge June 13th. Raymond local is to furnish the following program numbers for the conference, Community singing director. Mrs. O. H. Snow. Vocal solos Mrs. Blanche Scoville, Readings Mrs. Emma Peterson, Mrs. Emma Dahl will be the accompanist for all the musical numbers.

Mrs. Manila Meldrum, Mrs. A. D. Woolley and Mrs. M. R. Woolf were appointed a Dominion Day committee to work with the U.F.A. in preparing a float for the parade.

Joe Strong received a nasty cut on the back of his head last week working on the Terminal Elevator in Lethbridge. He laid a 12 x 12 x 6 inch tile on a board above his head and reached down for another one when the one above him fell, striking him on the back of the head and making a wound that required several stitches to close. Joe stayed on the job but had a decidedly sore head.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Poulsen were in Magrath Tuesday evening. Due to the heavy rain there they did not return until Wednesday morning.

Special Grade cream is now being delivered at Creameries. The Jasper Dairy in Edmonton is paying 16c. but most points only 16c. per lb. for Butterfat.

A near accident occurred on Broadway last Saturday morning which gave people on the street quite a scare for a few seconds. A team hitched to a democrat began jumping back and forth when they became frightened at the noise of a truck passing with its rattling and noisy exhaust. In the rig were two women and about four children and one of the little tots were thrown out of the rig underneath one of the horses. The horse stepped down with one foot right on the child but feeling something under its foot raised it again just as Mrs. O.H. Snow pulled the child out. In falling the arm was bruised some, but when the doctor made an examination nothing further was found to be wrong. It was altogether a lucky escape; the team was not tied with a rope at all. One cheek was unsnapped from the bridle, passed around the telephone post and again snapped into the ring on the bridle. Had this have broken the team would have been loose and out of control, and probably a death or two, or a serious accident, the story of the affair. Horses should be tied securely when left standing regardless of their docility.

LOCAL NINE WIN FROM MAGRATH

In a game featured with timely hitting and good playing the Raymond nine came home from Magrath with a 12-6 victory to their credit on Wednesday evening.

The game was interesting all the way through, and the home team got plenty of thrills especially in the ninth or two when the bases got full, a run or two forced in, and everything looking like a blow out. But it didn't happen.

Rulon Blingam, R. Blumel and E. Blumel were the battery for Magrath and Joe Strong, Harris Walker and Ross Humphreys did the twirling and catching for the local nine. John O'Brien and D. Hudson of Magrath were umpires.

Vern Henry was the outstanding batter of the day. In five times at bat, he got five safe hits, and scored twice.

Magrath will be here tonight to return the game.

Score by Innings:
RAYMOND— 242 110 20—12

Review of Parliament

(By Thomas Wayling-

Ottawa, June 10—Taxing every single item of food, clothing, or other commodities imported into the country by a 1 p.c. excise tax, quadrupling the sales tax which every consumer must eventually pay, re-establishing the exorbitant three cent postage, increasing the tariff on over 200 items—but halving the income tax the very rich in Canada must pay, the Rt. Hon. R.B. Bennett brot down his budget in parliament last week.

It was not a Poor Man's budget. The poor man buys four to six times more commodities than the bachelor or man with a small family and so the Sales Tax hits him hardest in proportion to his income. Right after the war the sales tax was high, but had been gradually reduced until last year it was one per cent, with the probability, in fact virtually promise, that it would disappear this year. Instead of that, it has been raised to four per cent.

The elimination of the three cent postage two years ago was hailed with satisfaction throughout the country. It is back again like a bad penny, the extra cent which must be affixed to every letter mailed in Canada. The daily newspapers which form so important a part of present day existence, have been taxed by a fifty percent increase in their postage cost. Foreign magazines are to be taxed 15 percent duty per lb.

The Income Tax is unchanged in the lower registers, the exemption having been increased from $3,000 to $3,500 but the middle income people have had their taxes increased while those who are really rich get off easy. The former Income Tax Schedule went up to 45 percent. The new schedule stops at 25 percent. Nothing of course has been done about the want by people who evade taxes by holding among themselves about $825,000,000 of tax free bonds.

The nuisance tax on checks has been expanded, and instead of small check up to $10 being exempt, they must carry a two cent stamp so that the householder with a small income who must pay his little accounts in checks is taxed 2 cents for every check, the same amount as the wealthy individual who signs checks for hundreds and thousands.

Tea, that daily comfort of the mass of the people was relieved of taxation formerly but will now be taxed from 4 to 10 percent. Wines and other beverages of the rich are unchanged.

Oranges, prunes, raisins, dates, figs and other imported fruits which are essential to the poor man's table, have been taxed still higher and used automobiles have been prohibited from importation altogether. Furniture has also been put on the higher tariff list, and even the paper on the wall has not escaped. The House itself will cost more, there being tariff increases on building brick and stone. Clocks and watches, window glass and laminated glass are also higher.

Even the wrapper on the figs, the orange boxes: in fact all containers are to be taxed at the same rate as the commodities they contain.

An unusual provision is made in the budget whereby the government will pay five cents per bushel on the cost of wheat shipped overseas. This money will be paid out of the national revenue, including the taxes of those who do not ship wheat. The Alberta, Saskatchewan, British Columbia and Maritime coal fields are to be assisted by bounties on coal, and coke as well as high duties to keep out imported coal. A 35 percent tax is charged on insurance policies taken out in a company outside Canada, other than life marine and fraternal insurance.

The Budget speech was the longest ever delivered in the House, and included a lecture for the Opposition which was blamed chiefly because when in power it had met the requests of the Canadian National Railways for necessary monies. It was scolded for action with respect to the New Zealand treaty, possibly because it became known today that New Zealand had wiped out the British preference as applied to Canada. For a week the Opposition has been scolding for not shutting out New Zealand butter and when New Zealand takes drastic action because it was shut out the Opposition was blamed for that.

The Budget debate will open next Thursday with Hon. J. L. Ralston as the chief financial critic for the Opposition. The sales and Postage increase will be strongly debated, as well as the arbitrary imposition of 1 p.c. tax on all imported goods, irrespective of whether the goods are necessary for Canadian consumption or industry.

INSECTS AND DISEASE

Insects play an important part in the spread of certain of the communicable diseases. In some cases, the germ which causes the disease lives, during one part of its life, inside the body of the insect, and during the remainder of the cycle, inside the human body.

Yellow fever and Malaria are spread only by certain kinds of mosquitoes. In these two diseases, the organism which causes the disease actually lives both in the body of the mosquito and in the human body.

Typhus Fever has been known under many names, such as goal fever, ship fever and immigrant fever. It is spread by the body louse and is now a rare disease in this country, on account of greater personal cleanliness. Trench Fever, which was not uncommon among the soldiers during the Great War, is also spread by the body louse.

Remarkable success has been achieved in controlling the insect-borne disease. In general, this control has been obtained by the annihilation of the insect responsible through the destruction of its breeding places. The building of the Panama Canal was a greater sanitary accomplishment than an engineering feat. In order to build the Canal it was necessary, first of all, to overcome the yellow fever and Malaria, which had, up to that time, made the place uninhabitable.

Our insect problem in Canada, from the point of view of the spread of disease among human beings, is the common housefly. In the case of the fly, the germ of some particular disease does not spend part of its life inside the insect's body. But because the fly is covered with minute hairs, and because it lights and feeds on all sorts of filth, it carries and transfers the flyth, which may be laden with disease germs, from one place to another.

Flies feed anywhere—frequently on discharges from the body. When they light on such matter, it sticks to them and is carried to their next point of rest, which may be the milk-jug, the sugar-bowl, or the food on the table. If there were disease germs in the filth, these germs are transported by the fly together with the filth.

Flies breed in any collection of waste organic matter, such as garbage, but preferably on horse manure. If such material is properly covered and removed regularly, the breeding of the flies is prevented.

Outside privies should be screened so as to prevent the entrance of the flies.

Houses should be screened, and if flies succeed in entering, net with standing precautions, they should be killed. Flies should never be allowed to light on food. The baby's food, particularly, should be protected most carefully, as flies may spread summer diarrhoea.

Flies are dangerous. They should be destroyed because they are spreaders of disease.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College Street, Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

Thumb Sketches

A Small World

THE world is not so large as it used to be. It's getting smaller every day—in a comparative sense, of course.

During the half century just passed there has been unprecedented development of a great many things and many other new things have been invented. The railway, the steamship, the aeroplane, the telephone, the telegraph, wireless, radio, news services, the linotype, fast presses, the reproduction of pictures and a thousand and one other things have been the means of reducing distance, of cutting down the element of time, of making communication among the people of all parts of the world easier and more frequent, of making the problem of transportation a mere matter of choice. New inventions do things that, even now, seem to be unnamable.

"Bogorra," said one Irish convalescent, after being shown the wonders of a hospital X-ray apparatus. "What about clothes, an' houses if that contraption ever comes into general use? It won't do it all, at all."

It is the march of progress proceeds. The horizon widens and the world becomes comparatively smaller. Representatives of forty countries from all the ends of the earth will gather at Regina in 1932 for the purpose of discussing crop production problems for mutual benefit—a wonderful thing indeed for agriculture, the basic industry of so many people.

Dr. L. M. Estabrooke, commissioner of the Federal Department of Agriculture of the United States, is now engaged in promoting a complete census, not of the world's people, but of the world's live stock. He is receiving, what a few years ago would have been regarded as impossible, the co-operation of the governments representing 97% of the world's surface, so that there is already assurance for the success of the undertaking.

People in every country are thinking in terms of the world. The horizon is widening and the world itself becomes gradually smaller as the days roll by.

WHY NOT GET THE PREMIUM?

We are informed by I. B. Roberts that the time was a few years ago when Raymond had the finest grade of Hogs taking the thing clear thru of any place in Alberta.

Today, according to the Hog Graders reports from the stockyards, nearly every shipping point south of Lethbridge is ahead of us in grading. This situation should not exist for a number of very good reasons.

In the first place the premium is worth considering on Select and Bacon hogs. When you can get 7c. per lb. for select, and only 5c. per lb. live weight for a hog that grades heavy, a loss of between $4 and $4.50 can be figured on every hog thus graded, and that represents a good margin of profit. A difference of a few pounds of weight one way or the other may cost this margin. Now there is the question of breed, type, feeding costs, etc., that all enter into this question. There are some breeds that are naturally adapted for bacon and select hogs and they grow into these classes more or less naturally because of the foundation stock. There are other breeds that tend to weigh up faster for their apparent size than others and that may tend to go heavy if not watched closely. All of these things must be considered in the question of hog raising.

Another thing. It costs no more to grow and fatten a purebred than it does a grade hog, and every purebred marketed from our district is good advertising for the district. We should aim at strictly purebred stock for the market. Keep good sires and cull out the best for breeding stock, instead of selling the best to other districts to improve their grades, and keeping the grades at home to deteriorate our own grades and ruin our market. Purebreds run true to form. You know what to expect in the offspring while with grade stock you can tell nothing about it.

Well bred and rightly proportioned hogs are likely to mature into well proportioned, easily finished and perfect bacon hogs. When this happens you get the premiums that the trade offers, and here is where hog raising would show a nice and handsome profit. If everything we turned off would grade select or bacon, buyers would soon know where to come for the top grade hogs and our market would be established.

While we are in the hog business, why not get into the best. Get the best hogs the best prices and the best record for Raymond and district. It would not only help individually but collectively.

Mrs. Lowell Court is in Cardston visiting with relatives and friends for a few weeks.

WHOLESALESAERS WILL BE ASSISTED BY CENSUS OF MERCHANDISING AND SERVICE ESTABLISHMENTS

In the changing conditions which have characterized distribution in recent years, the wholesaler has not been least among those affected. He has been confronted with serious problems and has been handicapped in seeking their solution by lack of an adequate picture of existing conditions. A first step in the solution of any problem, is to have adequate data upon which to base conclusions. The Census of Merchandising and Service Establishments is expected to secure a body of statistical material which will put in the hands of the wholesaler, a comprehensive picture of distribution measurements and methods. This will be of real help in that it will shed light on many obscure phases of the subject.

This Census will attempt to obtain a measurement not only of the total extent of wholesale business in the Dominion, but it aims at ascertaining the amount done by the different types of wholesale houses such as jobbers, brokers, manufacturers' sales agents, manufacturers' sales branches, commission merchants, and various other types of firms conducting business at wholesale. The answers to the various questions included in the Schedules to be sent to wholesalers, will be tabulated and classified according to these types of organizations as well as by the kind of business which they conduct.

Among the specific benefits which the Census is expected to furnish for the wholesaler are included the following: He will know the number of wholesalers operating in his area in his own line of business and the importance of the group of wholesalers to which he belongs, on the basis of their total sales volume. He will be able to compare his own group of wholesalers with other groups or types which carry on the same line of business. He will be able to see the principal functions performed by wholesalers of his own kind and by wholesalers competing for the same trade. A very important comparison will be possible between the wholesaler's own business and the average results obtained in the group to which he belongs, either locally or on a wider geographic basis.

Golf

NO game, with the exception of billiards and snooker pool, is conducive of so much satisfaction and at the same time provocative of such a variety of emphatic language as is this game of golf. (If you want to be up-to-date imitate the man from John O'Groats and say it "gawf.")

But golf is more than a stimulant of satisfaction and emphatic language. It has become a serious contender with fishing for first place as the source of exaggerated yarns and stories of impossible feats.

You've heard of the golfer who killed a bird on the fly with one of his take-offs; and then comes along the story of the other chap who killed two birds in the same way. The stories of "a hole in one" are innumerable but here are two of the latest—the latest so far as I have heard, at any rate.

K—P—, or somebody else for that matter, on one of the Toronto courses, made a beautiful drive for the 18th hole. A hundred and fifty yards from the mat the ball hit a rock in a bunker, rebounded high over the mat and dropped gently into the hole of No. 1 green, which lay exactly 90 yards in the rear.

An enthusiastic golfer from Deauville, P.Q., or some other town in that part of the country, was a member of the party when the story of this remarkable performance (?) was related. Whether it was the result of a desire to push Toronto into the shade as a golfing city, or the association of ideas, or of a vivid and stimulated imagination, I do not know, but here is the story that followed as the Quebecois told it: "Pierre, an old friend of mine, was an enthusiastic golfer, but as a hooker and slicer he had anything I ever saw beaten forty ways. On one occasion he sliced a drive so badly from No. 7 mat that it took a beautiful curve round to the right and dropped into the hole on No. 12 green, 20 yards behind the mat of No. 7."

"Well," said one of the party whose home is beyond the Atlantic, "You Canadians fluke some wonderful feats in golf, but when the decisions are being made for the big cash prizes at the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference at Regina in 1932, flukes won't count."

Our good friend from across the sea was right. It is clearly the responsibility of every Canadian to select the classes from the prize list best suited to the crop he grows, then select the best sample he has for his exhibit, make entry at once and prepare to forward his exhibit to reach Regina on or before March 1st next year. Competition for the 1,701 prizes will be keen as all classes are open to growers from all parts of the world. Canadians owe it to themselves to do something worthy of Canada's field crops.

Golf, nevertheless, is one of the world's greatest games and all the stories about chasing the pebble-like ball round an open field after the manner of children only tend to make it more popular than ever among outdoor men and women the world over.

Rocky Mountains Are Ideal Holiday Land

Beauty unrivalled, health-giving altitudes, all the comforts that modern ingenuity can devise and "something to do" all the time await the army of travellers from all over the world, which annually invades the glorious Canadian Rockies through the Banff Springs Hotel and the Chateau Lake Louise. These stately up-to-date hostleries, which open on May 15 and June 1, respectively, are not only key-points to the most beautiful mountain territories in the world, but are, themselves, located in settings of a beauty which has to be seen to be truly appreciated. On the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which owns and operates them, they are equipped not only to be "homes from home" to the travelling public and holiday-seekers in the generally accepted sense, but to furnish entertainment for their guests in many and varied ways. Auto drives, trail-rides, boating, fishing, swimming, golf, tennis, hiking and mountaineering, to say nothing of the famous Indian Days and the Highland Gathering, are all part of programs which years of experience have brought to perfection. Experts in all lines are in attendance to be of service to the hotels' guests and real cowboys, red-coated "Mounties" and true Stoney Indians lend color to a hundred variations of uniquely picturesque scenes. There is never a dull moment at Banff or Lake Louise. There is something for every taste and the rounding off of full days by dancing in cool and spacious ball-rooms, to smart orchestras, is not the least of the attractions offered.

The pictures show: (1) the Banff Springs Hotel; (2) a typical Stoney Indian; (3) the Chateau Lake Louise.

THIRD FORTNIGHTLY CROP REPORT

Issued by the Department of Agriculture, Province of Alberta

The weather during the greater part of the past fortnight has been cool and temperatures reaching as low as 20 degrees have been reported. Growth has been retarded but frost damage is not serious. Fortunately showers have occurred at many points. The greatest precipitation is reported at Vermilion where 1.2 inches of rain is recorded on May 11th. Light showers occurred along the main line of the C. P. R. from Calgary to Edmonton. At Claresholm half an inch of rain fell on May 28th, and small showers are reported in the Lethbridge and Medicine Hat Districts. The central Eastern area has received light showers but not sufficient to be of value. High winds continue to retard growth although very little re-seeding has been necessary.

Seeding is from ninety to a hundred per cent completed and germination has been satisfactory over the greater part of the Province. Grain is of a good color and although growth is slow, it is believed that excellent progress will be made with the increasing temperatures which may be expected in the near future. In those areas where moisture supplies are very much below requirements germination is patchy and very little growth is being made. In irrigated districts use has been made of irrigation water and in order to insure germination of grain and other crops.

There is an increase in the area sown on stubble. This method has been followed largely for the purpose of decreasing damage from soil drifting. The majority of our correspondents report an increase in the acreage seeded to Alfalfa and Sweet Clover. Crops such as beans and potatoes have also been materially increased in the irrigated areas.

Pasture and water conditions in the dry areas of the Province are becoming serious. Very little growth has taken place and in some instances drifting soil has practically covered pastures.

Owners of live stock are experiencing difficulty in obtaining feed and water supplies.

In a few instances very slight damage from wire worms and cut worms is reported, but the damage is not serious.

BEAR CUBS TRAVEL DE LUXE TO WASHINGTON

The capture of the cubs came as a sequel to one of the Senator's hunting expeditions. Coming suddenly upon a full grown bear, the Senator brot it down with a snap shot from his rifle. Immediately the air was filled with shrill cries and growls, and the three cubs ran from their hiding place and gathered round their fallen mother. The Senator, unable to kill three such innocents, and as unable to leave them to a death by starvation, decided that they would make a welcome addition to the National Zoo at Washington, hence their journey de luxe via Canadian National Express. The youngsters enjoyed every minute of their journey, and squealed with delight at the approach of Senator Hale, who fed them three times a day on tinned milk. Accompanying the Senator were S. W. One wheel of the rig was demolished, only the hub and the rim and tire remaining intact, a box of groceries was thrown out, and a sack of eggs scrambled a la mode in the back of the rig and on the street. ## Look Out For The Web Worm

Beet Growers, look out for the Web Worm. The moth is laying its eggs now. If you keep your beet field clean this moth will lay its eggs on the road side and where there is weeds, rubbish and so on for the eggs to incubate in. If you let your beet fields get weedy, the weeds will make a fine nesting place for the moth, and later on when the beets are cultivated and the weeds killed the Web Worm will move from the dying weed on to the beet tops and get in its damaging work.

This is a serious matter. If your field is infested with Web Worm there is little that can be done after the hatch. Much however can be done now, to keep your beets protected from them. Cultivate your beets and not leave any place for the moth to deposit her eggs, and you are not likely to have any trouble from this pest later on.
